LICKING TEUTONS IS GAME EVERYBODY PLAYING NOW

Here's How Turkey Quits Teuton Allies

London, Nov. 1. (AP)—The terms of the armistice granted by the allies to Turkey, made public here today, contained 25 clauses, all having to do with military matters. No political matters were touched. Under the armistice Turkey, like Bulgaria, unconditionally surrendered. Besides opening the Dardanelles to the allies Turkey agreed to help remove all mine fields, give the allies information regarding German mines in the Black Sea, release all allied prisoners of war as well as all interned or imprisoned Armenians and to immediately demobilize her army. Turkey surrenders all her war ships, gives the allies permission to occupy strategic points in Turkey, free use of all Turkish waters to all allied ships and denial of this to the central powers. She will evacuate all occupied territory and turn over her wireless, telegraph and cable stations to the allies. All Austro-Germans, naval, military and civilians, will be evacuated from Turkish territory within one month.

OIL INTERESTS IN MEXICO FAIL TO CHANGE TAX DECREE

Mexico City, Nov. 1. (AP)—The supreme court after weeks of argument has decided, according to reports published today, to refuse the foreign oil corporations' petition against a suspension of the preliminary holding certificates heretofore granted, stayng execution of the presidential oil decrees of July 31 and August 8 and 12, which constitute the groundwork for regulation of the taxation of oil lands. The vote was unanimous.

This decision means that the decrees objected to by the oil interests as confiscatory will stand.

WORK OF SWEEPING MINE FIELDS IN THE DARDANELLES BEGUN

London, Nov. 1. (AP)—A large fleet of the latest type of British mine sweepers today began the tedious task of clearing the Dardanelles of mines and other obstructions. This work, together with other safeguards of the allies, is considered to be necessary before an allied fleet enters the tortuous waterways leading past Constantinople and through the Bosphorus to the Black Sea, and will take several days in the opinion of the British admiralty.

DEMOBILIZATION OF AMERICAN ARMY WILL REQUIRE TWO YEARS

New York, Nov. 1. (AP)—Demobilization of the American forces in France will require a period of two years after peace is declared, according to a statement made here tonight by General T. Coleman DuPont, who has just returned from a two months visit to the western front.

Declaring that his views were the reflection of official opinion among the allied forces he asked that Americans accustom themselves to the idea of a long demobilization as they have to that of a long war.

"One of our generals asked me," he said, "to tell the people at home that our boys have a year's work ahead of them in removing the barbed wire the Huns have strung across France."

ITALIAN GENERAL LAYS CARDS ON TABLE FOR AUSTRIAN ARMISTICE

London, Nov. 1. (AP)—General Diaz, Italian commander in chief, handed the armistice terms to the Austrian commanders today, according to the Evening Star. The terms of the armistice, the newspaper adds, will be published tomorrow.

Austrians Fleeing Everywhere And Germans Pushed Back

SMASH

On Brooklyn Transit Line Has Heavy Human Toll

New York, Nov. 1. (AP)—Eighty-five bodies had been taken late tonight from what is known as the Malbone street "tunnel" on the Brighton Beach line of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, where a five-car train, running at high speed, jumped the track on a curve and struck the side wall with such terrific force that the first car was demolished and the others "buckled" until they jammed against the roof of the tunnel.

It is believed the dead will number 100 men and women and the injured will double that number.

The tragedy marked the first day of a strike called by the company's motormen to enforce the reinstatement of twenty-nine discharged members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers as ordered by the national war labor board.

The train is said to have been in charge of a new motorman.

District Attorney Lewis said all the officers of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company and every person connected with the accident had been ordered arrested. He said the company was withholding the name of the motorman.

According to the survivors the motorman was unused to the road. They said he was compelled to back up at one point after he had taken the wrong switch.

Immediately after the crash the wrecked cars burst into flames.

The injured and dead were carried up ladders. Charred bodies were placed in burlap bags to shroud them from the gape of the thousands of persons who gathered soon after the collision.

PERSHING'S MEN TAKE SEVERAL VILLAGES AND BIG BAG OF PRISONERS

With the American Forces Northwest of Verdun, Nov. 1. (AP) General Pershing's forces atacked the German positions on this front today. At least a dozen villages were captured. More than 3000 prisoners were taken.

Soon after noon the American troops had passed Imecourt and Bayonville. The Americans stormed Andevanne and cleared the Bois des Loges where they encountered the most serious opposition of the day. The line at 6 o'clock this evening extended through the northern part of the Bois des Loges to the eastward and then well north of Aincreville and Clery-le-Grand.

AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN NAVY NOW IN HANDS OF SLAV NATIONAL COUNCIL

London, Nov. 1. (AP)—A German wireless dispatch posted by the British Admiralty tonight says that according to an imperial proclamation the Austro-Hungarian navy has been handed over to the South Slav National Council sitting in Agram.

DEMONSTRATION IN VIENNA MARKS PASSING OF AUSTRIAN REGIME

Copenhagen, Nov. 1. (AP)—Under the heading, "A Republic on the March," the Berlin Tagebiatt of Wednesday gives details of the events of that day in Vienna.

The demonstration began in forenoon with a meeting of the students which was joined by workingmen in front of the parliament building. President Dinghofer of the National Council in a speech declared the National government would take over the whole administration on Thursday.

"That without the Hapsburgs," shouted the crowd.

An officer in uniform then called on the soldiers and officers to remove the imperial cockades. His appeal was obeyed with enthusiasm. The imperial standard flying before the parliament building was then hauled down upon order by President Gross of the Austrian lower house.

(Associated Press Summary.)

From the mountain region of northern Italy to the plains of Venetia and on salient sectors in Belgium and France the armies of the Teutonic allies are being violently attacked by troops of the entente.

In Serbia the Austrians and Germans are fast making their way out of the little kingdom, many of them already having crossed the Danube. French and Serbian cavalry have reached Belgrade from where a fast turning movement eastward along the Save river is likely to work havoc with those of the enemy forces coming northward in western Serbia and those who are struggling northward through Albania.

So far as Turkey is concerned her capitulation is an abject one and the Ottoman no longer is to prove a factor in the world war.

Although the new smashes of the British, French and Americans in Belgium and France have been markedly successful in the carrying out of the general program of ridding French and Belgian soil of the invaders, it is still the Italian theater on which the eyes of the world are centered. Internal strife in Germany and Austria-Hungary and continued pleadings from the dual monarchy for an armistice and cessation of hostilities have received scant notice when compared with the impression that the wonderful drive of the Italians and the allies against Austria-Hungary has made upon the world at large.

Everywhere the enemy is being defeated. In the Alpine region where the natural barriers have acted as bastions of defense the enemy line has been broken at salient points and his forces compelled to seek safety in retreat to further mountain strongholds. On the plains the retrograde movement of the enemy toward the Tagliamento river is virtually a complete rout with allied airplpanes violently attacking with machine guns the throngs of the enemy hurrying eastward, with cavalry cutting to pieces the stragglers and infantry and machine gunners taking a heavy toll of men killed or wounded.

Great numbers of Austro-Hungarians still continue to be winnowed back of the line to the prison cages. Large quantities of stores still are falling into the hands of the entente forces and numerous additional towns are being liberated. More than 700 guns already have been added to the store of other booty taken by the allies.

In Belgium along the Scheldt from Verchem to Gavere, King Albert's men have pressed forward in the general direction of Ghent and at last account were standing on the western side of the canal which the Germans had hoped, before the concentrated attack was begun against them some time ago, would prove a strong point in the northern defensive system.

To the south below Valenciennes English and Canadian troops have driven the German line two miles eastward over a front of six miles, inflicting exceptionally heavy casualties on the enemy and drawing their lines almost to the outskirts of southern Valenciennes. Two thousand prisoners were taken in the enterprise.

On the southern part of this front the French and American troops are driving northward over wide fronts, clearing the enemy from territory which it is essential for him to hold if his line from Belgium to the Meuse is to be retained intact. Splendd progress has been made in the first stages of the battle and seemingly the great wooded massif north of Grand Pre, a continuation of the Argonne forest, is likely soon to be enveloped, leaving only comparatively strong natural barriers to be forced by the allies in their advance northward.

Amsterdam, Nov. 1. (AP)Germany, according to an announcement made in the Weser Gazette, has recognized the Prague general national council of the Czecho-Slovaks.

PERAMBULATING COUPLE DETAINED BY OFFICER

Nearly three weeks ago the county clerk received notice from Ladonia not to issue a license to anybody wanting to marry a certain girl, as she was not of age, and a day or two later the officers here were notified to look out for a couple who left Ladonia in an automobile in the direction of Paris and were supposed to be headed for Oklahoma. The girl was said to be only sixteen. The father of the girl also mailed cards to olicers at different points describing the couple and offering a reward for their detention.

W. H. Carey, local deputy sheriff at Arthur City, received one of the cards and had been on the lookout. Thursday morning he heard of a couple having spent the night at Arthur and left early in the morning. He went to Hugo in search of them. In the meantime Constable Will Conder saw them walking down the railroad track near Powderly and arrested tohm. He brought them to Paris and telephoned the Ladonia man, who came up yesterday morning and called on the couple in jail. He stated that the girl wasn't his daughter and that they were not the couple he was after.

Complaints have been lodged against the couple, however, for vagrancy. They told different tales in regard to themselves. The girl would not talk much herself. They said once that they were married and then said they were not but that they were on their way to Paris to get married when the officer took charge of them. The man said his home was in Oklahoma and that he registered there. He didnt have his registration card, but he said he was placed in calss 5 because he was in the penitentiary when he registered.

A CHILD PLUNGES IN AN ABANDONED WELL

There was considerable excitement about noon yesterday at the home of J. C. Adcock on North 28th street on account of his six-year-old daughter, Mildred, falling in an old abandoned well out in the back yard. The well had been filled up but the soaking rains had caused the loose dirt to sink and become compact. After the dirt settled it was about six feet deep and two feet of water had collected in it from recent rains. Rank grass and weeds had grown up around the place where the well had been filled up, concealing it from view.

While the little girl was out in the yard chasing a butterfly she forgot all about the place where the old well had been filled up and plunged over in it head foremost. She scrambled around however, and got on her fet before she was fatally strangled and clung to the side of the well crying and shouting for help until she was too weak and exhausted to scream any more.

When Mr. Adcock came home to dinner and missed his litle girl, it being very unusual for her not to be ready to run forward to greet him he inquired for her and a hasty search was begun. Finally, while Mrs. Tobe Ingram was near the patch of weeds where the well had been filled up she heard a childish voice say "I'm in here and I can't get out." She had grown too weak and exhausted to shout to the searchers. Mrs. Ingram discovered her and passed the word to the others. The child's father rushed to her rescue and found her shivering and with her lips purple from cold. She had been in the water about thirty minutes.

A COMPLAINT AGAINST HOLY ROLLER NEGROES

Complaints were drawn up in the county attorney's office yesterday against Henry Kirvin, pastor of the negro holy roller church in Paris, and C. H. Mason of Memphis, Tenn., and Wm. B. Holt of Los Angeles, Cal., charging them with swindling. Mason styles himself as "the chief apostle of the church of the living God in Christ" and Holt, who is a white man, is his secretary. Holt and Mason were brought here this week for investigation by the federal grand jury, but it was decided that their operations were not conducted in a way that was covered by any federal statute, and the matter was referred to the state authorities.

It is claimed that Mason and Kirvin told the negroes at the holy roller meetings that they were going to make a trip to Washington to see the president about getting them exempted from war service. Later it was said, they had made the trip and returned. They did not get to see the president, they said, but saw a committee of offificials who authorized them to announce that all of them who would pay 25 cents and would put their names on the church register would be exempt from war service. It is claimed that the defendants said they wanted the names to send in to the president so he could see who the saints of the church were.

It is said that the defendants have been collecting the 25 cents from negroes ever since Sept., 1917, on the strength of their promise to save them from the operation of the draft. Only one complaint was filed yesterday, but County Attorney Grady Sturgeon said that there would be some more. The defendants were all filed on jointly.

Holt, the white man, who is the secretary of the negro chief apostle Mason, was the only one who had been arrested yesterday evening after the complaints were filed. He was lodged in jail in dfault of bond. County Attorney Sturgeon said that he had sworn affidavits that Holt had been eating and sleeping with the negroes and that he has been seen to hug and kiss the preachers. Mason was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs McDonald and Brown at the Texas and Pacific depot last night while he was waiting to take the train back to Memphis.

The young man who lost his coat with $75 in it Thursday morning was John Scarborough of Sylvan. The two boys in the buggy who were seen to pick it up left it at a laundry under the impression that it had been dropped from a laundry wagon that had passed just ahead of them. It lay around in the office for somebody to appea rto claim, an dnobody had discovered that there was money in the pocket. The boys had told their mother about finding the coat, and when she saw in the News yesterday morning that a coat with a sum of money in it was lost from an automobile and was supposed to have been picked up b ytwo boys, she was satisfied that it was the coat her boys had turned over to the laundry. She telephoned the police and Officer T. B. Brown looked it up. The coat was found lying around the office of the laundry with the $75 undisturbed.

VERSAILLES WILL BE QUIET WHILE PEACE DELIBERATIONS GO ON

Paris, Oct. 31. (AP)—On the eve of the meeting of the supreme war council the very atmosphere of Versailles is surcharged with the importance of pending events. The presence of numerous uniformed officials of allied nations, councillors, prime ministers and personages of high estate, lends to the scene a dignity which reflects the nature of the colossal questions to be decided in directing the destinies of the new order of world politics.

Trianon palace has been isolated. The deliberations of the premiers, ministers and naval and military chiefs will be conducted amidst the quietude of a woodland dell, retained in all its beauty by the French governments since the days of Louis XIV and used afterwards by successive sovereigns including Napoleon.

To make more secure the isolation of the palace for conferences which will begin tomorrow all traffic in this direction will be stopped. Guards of French soldiers, British, Americans and Italians stand on duty at various posts.

Says Hixson Lady Who, On Doctor's Advice, Took Cardui And Is Now Well.

Hixson, Tenn.—"About 10 years ago I was..." says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side...

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic."

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has so many thousands of other women in the past 40 years. HUDSON-DAVIS CO.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH IS NOW THE NAME

No longer is there a Centenary Methodist Church and a Lamar Avenue Methodist Church in Paris.

These two historic institutions with their sacred memories and sweet associations ceased to be with the meeting of the Pastor's Quarterly Conferences of the two churches Thursday night. It is now the First Methodist Church of Paris with a membership of over thirteen hundred and a financial strength that is above that of any other Methodist congregation north of Dallas.

On Sunday, November 10, the First Methodist Church will hold open house in the high school building, Sunday school and preaching services there being conducted regularly until the congregation has a house of worship commensurate with the demands of the congregation.

Mr. L. L. Hardison was elected superintendent of the Sunday school and Mr. Ed H. McCuistion was elected charge lay reader. These are considered the two most important offices in the local congregation of the Methodist church.

The following were elected as the stewards of the First Methodist church of Paris: W. A. Collins, W. H. McGlasson, W. F. Dulaney, S. R. Galbreath, Sayers Boyd, A. E. Boyers, S. H. Hancock, Geo. T. Coleman, W. A. Martin, L. W. Jackson, J. M. Jennings, E. S. Crowley, F. D. Mallory, J. W. Crook, Neville Brooks, C. M. White, P. J. Pierce, T. J. R. Yates, A. J. Moon, H. W. Tinnin, Geo. T. Saunders, W. A. Hutchison, J. T. Conway, J. C. DeShong, James A. Hogue, W. E. Knight, F. B. Webster, J. T. Webster, J. S. Stone, W. J. Alday, C. C. Caviness, W. A. Nobles, J. W. Anderson, D. S. Hammond, C. M. McWherter, L. L. Hardison, T. E. McGee, J. F. Garner, R. P. Berry, J. W. Bybee, Morris Fleming, M. B. Crook, J. D. Crook, S. L. Bedford, W. H. P. Anderson, J. D. Kinkead, M. O. Bozeman, W. W. Staples and Dr. G. W. Bedford.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Hardison presented a resolution declaring the faith of the board in the presiding bishop and also in the presiding elder of the district and assuring them that the man sent by them as pastor to the church would be accepted in Methodistic spirit. The resolution commended the two pastors of the churches that have been merged into the new organization and declared that the Board would consider itself and the church most fortunate if either of them should be chosen to be the pastor during the coming year. It is understood that Bishop Ainsworth will be in the city next Monday and the new Board will lunch with him at the Christian church, after which a committee will present him with the resolution referred to.

And thus two churches have become one, urged on by a desire for larger usefulness and more effective service. The career of the First Methodist Church of Paris will be watched by the peoples of all churches in Lamar County with unusual interest.

TEXAS MUST SUPPLY MORE REAL WAR WORK FOLKS

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 1.—The State Council of Defense met this morning in answer to a call issued to discuss ways and means of meeting the Texas quota of civilian war workers asked by the federal government through the United States Employment Service.

Federal Director H. W. Lewis advised the council that the state has been asked to furnish a quota of 5700 men by November 20th to volunteer for work at munitions and other government plants to back up the soldiers in France. To date the Employment Service has been able to obtain only 1200 men for this quota, according to Mr. Lewis, and in order to get the balance in the stipulated time some concerted action is required to get men out of non-essential industries and into war work.

The government has no intention to disturb regularly organized essential industries, Mr. Lewis said, but there are any number of men in the state who will be willing to undertake the work when they know the urgent necessity of the government. Men especially desired are of the semi-skilled class such as clerks, waiters, barber sho pand pool room attendants and all others whose places can be filled for the period of the war by women, old men and boys.

"The government is not being misled by the peace proposals of Germany," said the federal director, "and we are preparing for another year of war. The ordnance department at Washington last night issued a statement calling upon employees in ordnance work to speed up work of manufacturing guns and munitions for the soldiers in France."

This morning the following telegram was received by the State Council of Defense from A. N. Smyth, assistant director general of the U. S. Employment Service at Washington, which was read at the meeting:

"The United States Employment Service wishes to thank the council for your efforts in assisting this service to recruit the allotment of men from your state for war work. The importance of the assistance given to the country by the state of Texas in the furnishing of men to war industries cannot be overestimated. It is vitally essential to the immediate prosecution of the war that the full number of men allotted be promptly recruited. We are counting on Texas to do her full duty and know that the state will go down in history as having done her bit."

FOURTH LOAN WENT OVER BY WIDE MARGIN

Washington, Nov. 1. (AP)—The Fourth Liberty Loan was oversubscribed by more than eight hundred and sixty-six million dollars. Final reports announced today by the treasury show subscriptions of $6,866,416,300. It is estimate that 21,000,000 persons bought bonds.

All federal reserve districts oversubscribed, the Boston district reaching 126 per cent of its quota and standing first in the percentage column. Richmond made 123 per cent and Philadelphia 119.

The other districts' percentages were:

Cleveland 116, Minneapolis 114, St. Louis 113, Atlanta 112, Dallas 111.69, New York 111; Chicago 109, Kansas City 109,, San Francisco 105.

Accompanied by two swagger youths, the girls forced ten men to line up. They took $200 in cash.

PRISONERS ARRIVING TOO SWIFTLY TO COUNT

Washington, Nov. 1. (AP)—Official Rome dispatches today describing the victorious sweep of Italian and allied armies that is demolishing the Austrian front, say the lines are moving forward in such great leaps that it no longer is possible to identify towns taken or to count prisoners and guns captured or Italians liberated.

Sixty thousand Italians held by the enemy to work on defenses in occupied territory already have been released.

With the Austrians everywhere in flight and the Italian armies on two wings about to unite, it is said to be impossible to foresee where the few enemy divisions that escape will stop running.

It is impossible to estimate the prisoners coming down the mountains in flocks.

At many points east of the Piave there are so many Austrian prisoners that they block the roads over which they are being marched to the rear.

Italian Headquarters East of the Piave, Thursday, Oct. 31. (AP)—The Austrians continue to retre hastily in the plains and the allies are capturing many prisoners, the number of which cannot be estimated accurately.

In the mountain regions the Austrians are resisting somewhat but their defensive power is waning rapidly.

Rome, Nov. 1. (AP)—In their offensive against the Austrians on the Monte Grappa front in northern Italy, the Italians have pressed the enemy so strongly that his front has collapsed, the war office announed today.

The Italians have forced the gorge at Quero, passing beyond the spur east of Monteresen and are advancing in the Piave valley.

Revolt in Hungary.

Copenhagen, Nov. 1. (AP)—A successful revolution has taken place in Budapest, and the Hungarian National Council has taken over the government, according to a message sent by Count Michael Karolyi to the Berlin Tageblatt.

The message from Count Karolyi, who is head of the Hungarian independent party, reads:

"Revolution in Budapest and national council took over government. Military and police acknowledge national council completely. Inhabitants rejoicing.

(Signed) "KAROLYI,
"President National Council."

German Armistice Terms.

Paris, Nov. 1. (AP)—The armistice terms to be submitted to Germany will be confined strictly to military requirements, except that it will be brought out clearly that they are conditioned generally upon President Wilson's principles with some definiteness.

14-YEAR-OLD BOY KILLS SELF AT FORT WORTH

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 1.—Norman Hereford, 14 years old, committed suicide at his home here Thursday afternoon, by firing a target rifle bullet through his right temple. Justice of the Peace Small rendered a verdict of suicide after an investigation. The boy was at home alone, his mother being employed at one of the packing houses. Neighbors said it was their opinion that the boy's mind had become deranged due to a blow on the head with a milk bottle during a fight with another boy recently.

that Mother gave me for my wedding present. Its even, steady fire makes cooking and baking a pleasure."

Miss C.—"Yes, that's a fine looking loaf of bread all right, but why do you try to boil your teakettle on the back lids?"

Mrs. A.—"Oh! That's another fine thing about this range—you can cook on all six lids, not just two as in other ranges. It never ruffles your temper with soot and dirt, for it is equipped with Cole's Hot Blast Draft, which Tom says burns all burnable material in our fuel, gases and all—wasting nothing and saving a lot on our fuel bill. Tom says it is just the range for newlyweds like us, or anybody who really wants to save."

Miss C.—"It is such a neat looking range!"

Mrs. A.—"Yes, the smooth nickel trimming and plain body are so easy to keep clean, and the high leg base makes sweeping and scrubbing underneath the stove very easy. Now you couldn't have a nicer wedding present, and I do hope that each of you will get one when you are married."

Come to our store and see this beauty and let us show you its fine features and some of its fuel saving facts.

FORMER REPUBLICAN PRESIDENTS ISSUE APPEAL TO VOTERS

New York, Oct. 31.—Urging election of a republican congress, Ex-President Roosevelt and Ex-President Taft today issued a joint, signed statement in reply to the appeal of President Wilson for election of a democratic congress.

The statement which was made public by the republican national committee, laid stress on the present peace conversation with Germany and declared "the president has indicated a willingness to make a peace negotiation. He has not demanded, as he might have done, in the lines that which the people demanded, an unconditional surrender."

Roosevelt and Taft declared the war was bing fought to supprss one-man control. President Wilson's fourteen peace terms were called general and vague and fear was expressed that they would not lead to a real peace treaty.

BACK DOOR TO GERMANY FORCED

London, Nov. 1.—The effect of the Austrian break up on the war will be immense said the London Daily News today. It is obvious that the allies would consent to no armistice which did not provide, as in the case of Bulgaria, for unhindered passage of their troops and the prosecution on Austrian soil of war against Germany.

Even if Austria were disposed to refuse that demand, she would be powerless to resist it. Her constituent peoples are in revolt against her and the Czecho-Slovaks and the Jugo-Slavs have been recognized by the entente as allied belligerents.

That is enough in itself to secure to the allies an entrance to and passage through what has hitherto been enemy territory. The importance of that is not its effect upon Austria, but its effect on Germany.

It means that her back door is forced. Bohemia, now passing rapidly into the hands of the Czecho-Slovaks, adjoins Prussia, Saxony and Bavaria and the eastern frontiers of none of these states is organized for defense. Without moving a man rom the west, the allies could draw from their southern and eastern fronts a force sufficient to drive a way into Saxony or Bavaria—and that without taking into account the support the new independent Slav races might render.

Against that fatal encirclement Germany cannot struggle

SAN ANTONIO HAS FIRST YOUNG LADY CHAUFFEUR

San Antonio Tex., Nov. 1.—E. B. Chandler, president of the Country Club and one of the wealthiest citizens of San Antonio, has turned his chauffeur over to the United States service to make munitions, and engaged a young woman in his place. The new chauffeur is neatly clad in khaki and is the first of the craft in this part of the country, although women motorists are common in the East. Federal Director H. W. Lewis of the United States Employment Service hopes others will follow Mr. Chandler's example in order that Texas may furnish its quota of 57.-000 men for munition plants of the country by Nov. 20.

POLICEMEN ROCKED; MUCH DAMAGE DONE ON HALLOWE'EN NIGHT

Dallas Times-Herald:

Police officers in squad cars were rocked, street car windows were broken, arc lights were lowered, false fire alarms were turned in, street cars were "ditched," automobiles were stolen and many other so-called pranks were played by Hallowe'en jokesters Thursday night, which was considered by the police to have been the "wildest Hallowe'en in the history of the department."

From 8 o'clock until long after midnight five squads of officers were kept busy running to every part of the city. The officers could not see any joke in the manner in which the pranksters operated.

The streets were filled with garbage cans. Wires and ropes were stretchde across sidewalks to trip unsuspecting pedestrians, trolleys were pulled off cars, benches were stolen from porches, large lawn swings were hoisted to the tops of telephone poles, big trucks and wagons were placed across street car tracks, fights ensued between different gangs of boys and "alley apples" were thrown between different serenading parties.

In the downtown district large crowds of "ghosts" tooted horns and paraded, behaving exceptionally well. In the residence district some damage was done. During the night more than ninety calls were answered by the police.

The Oak Cliff squad officers while answering one call were attacked by a gang of boys who threw several rocks at the officers.

One resident of Oak Cliff reported that while he and his family were visiting in the neighborhood someone stole a piano from his front room. The piano has not been found.

Sprays and douches will never cure you.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it chokes up your nostrils and air passages, causing painful and difficult breathing and other discomforts. But the real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs.

This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface. To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood.

Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which completely routs from your blood the Catarrh germs, for which it is a perfect antidote.

"Somewhere in France" With Empey

"You bane get tea and toast on bridge for mate, damn quick." I was bewildered. The door slammed and once again I was alone. Fifteen minutes must have passed when the door opened again and in rushed the toughest-looking seaman I have ever seen. He had only one eye. Later on I found that he was out first mate, "One-eyed Gibson," a "Blue-Noser" from Nova Scotia, and a man whom it was not safe to trifle with. Without a word he stepped into the glory hole, grabbed my shoulder in a grip of steel, and yanked me out of my bunk into the icy water which was awash on the deck. This was my first introduction to him.

"Get out o' that, you landlubber. There's no fire in the galley, and I want my tea on the bridge, and I want it now, or I'll put out your dead lights."

"Get Out o' That, You Landlubber."

I meekly answered, "Yes, sir," and started to put on my wet socks. Seeing this action, he shouted, "Never mind that damned rigging. Get into the galley and get that fire alight."

My feet were blue with the cold and my teeth were chattering. I timidly asked, "Where are we, sir?" With a look of contempt he answered: "We're outside o' Sandy Hook, bound south for the Horn, and she's blowing big guns." Then he left.

I stepped out of my glory hole onto the deck. We were dipping our scuppers, and huge seas were breaking over the weather side. One minute the after deck would appear like a steep hill in front of me, and a horrible churning sound would come from the racing propeller. Then the deck would slant away from me and a loud chug! and a shiver through the ship as the propeller sank again into the water.

Benumbed and wet from the icy spray, I managed to steer a course to the companionway, and dragged myself to the upper deck. A sailor was in the galley and had started a fire. The ship was rolling, pitching and lurching. In that galley it sounded like a bombardment. Pots and pans were rattling in their racks; a few of them had fallen out, and were chasing each other around the deck.

Cold and miserable, I crouched in the corner, keeping myself from falling by holding on to the rail in front of the stove.

The sailor took compassion on me, and made the toast and tea. How he did it was a marvel to me, but later on I became very expert myself.

Following the "life lines" on the upper deck, I at last managed to reach the bridge with my pot of tea and two slices of toasted bread. There were two men at the wheel. In the darkness I went up to them and asked for the mate. They did not answer. Just then I received a resounding smack on the back which made my teeth rattle, and that dreaded, gruff voice of the mate reached my ears through the wind: "Damn you, you bell's spawn, keep away from the men at the wheel or I'll throw you over the side."

I mumbled my apologies, and followed the mate into the chart house. He greedily drank the tea, and in about four bites disposed of the pieces of toast. The toast was soaked in salt water and I inwardly wished that it would poison him; in fact I prayed that the ship would sink with all on board. Such is seasickness.

I managed, somehow or other, to make my way back to the galley, and I met my "superior officer" for the trip, the "cookie." He was about five feet nothing in height; a shriveled-up Welshman about forty-five years old. He reminded me of a mummy in the Museum of Natural History in Central park. If he had ever smiled I am sure that his face would have cracked. It seemed frozen into one perpetual scowl. He gave one look at me and let out a howl.

"Blawst my deadlights, an' this 'ere (pointing to me) is what I'm to work with on this bloomin' passage. I'm lucky, I am, not 'arf, I ain't." He looked like some gorilla. The rolling of the ship affected him not in the least. He seemed to sway and bend with every movement of the ship.

The next two or three days were a horrible nightmare to me. How I lived through them I do not know. I had a deadly fear of the cook. As soon as he found out that I could not even boil water without burning it he started in to make my life a misery. He had a habit of carrying a huge butcher knife in his belt. Between meals he would sit down on a bench and constantly feel the edge of the same time telling me what an expert he was at carving. Later on I found that there was a reason for his carrying this knife. He and the crew were at dagger points, he never daring to go forward except in case of necessity, and then he was careful always to carry his butcher knife. Down in my heart I realized that if the occasion should arise he would not be backward in demonstrating his art of carving on his opponent. That Welshman was no better cook than I was, and the crew soon became aware of this fact; hence their hostility.

The Cushko was a "lime juicer," sailing under the English flag. The skipper was a "lime juicer," the first mate a "blue noser," the first engineer a Scotsman, while the crew was composed of Spaniards, Italians, Squareheads, Finns, Swedes and Russians. The bos'n was Irish, and a firm believer in Home Rule. A worse gang of cutthroats could hardly be conceived; a nice, polite bunch they were. Believe me, Bill and I had our troubles.

Bill and I were the only two Americans on board. The engineer's messman was a Prussian, Karl Tatzner by name. I nicknamed him "Fritz." He was only twenty years old, but was chimsy, strong as an ox and about six feet tall.

After weathering the gale we at last came into the Gulf stream, and off the coast of Florida it was warm and pleasant.

I found that my duties were to peel spuds, wash pots and pans and be a regular "fetch and carry" for the cook. My office hours were from six bells in the morning (three o'clock) until four bells at night (ten o'clock). I was greasy and filthy at all times, having nothing but salt water to wash in, and this would not cut the grease. Bill had it much easier than I. I had murder in my heart and vowed to "jump ship" at the first port we put into.

After nine or ten days we came alongside at Castries, St. Lucia, British West Indies, to coal ship. At this port the men believed in woman suffrage. Long lines of half-naked black women, with huge baskets of coal on their heads, passed up the forward gang plank, dumped their load of coal into the open bunkers, and left the ship by the after gangway. Before leaving the ship the fourth engineer gave each one a little brass check, which later on she would turn in to the coaling company for an English penny. While the women were working the men would sit around the dock smoking cigarettes.

The natives at St. Lucia had a great appetite for salt pork. I soon got wise to this fact and traded about a half a barrel of pork for limes, guava jelly, bay rum and alligator pears. If the steward or cook had caught me I would never be writing this story. The women threw the pork into their dirty coal baskets, and upon reaching the dock gave it to their husbands or sweethearts, who would immediately, without washing it, devour it. They spoke in a jibbering patois which I could not understand. Some of them could speak pretty good English. The kids, averaging from seven to fifteen years, were running around naked, or diving off the dock for pennies which we threw overboard.

About two hours before sailing from St. Lucia, a little fellow about fifteen years of age came to the entrance of the galley and in fair English told Bill and me a pathetic story of inhuman treatment which would have melted hearts of stone. He wanted us to stow him away on the ship. I was agreeable, but Bill warned me that this was a very grave offense against the English board of trade laws, the maximum penalty being fourteen years' imprisonment. I did not wish to incur this risk, therefore would not listen to the entreaties of the young negro, explaining to him the penalty of the board of trade laws. Upon hearing this, a cunning look, which at the time did not appear significant to me, came into his eyes, and he told me that if I would stow him away, "see how easy it will be for you." He would do all of my work, and all I would have to do would be to sit on the superstructure and let my feet hang. I thought this was worth risking fourteen years for, so fell in with the plan, Bill objecting.

The ventilators had been unshipped while the coaling was going on, and were lying aft on the poop deck. Watching our chance, we sneaked aft and hid the little fellow in one of the ventilators, warning him, upon pain of death, not to make a sound until the ship was well under way. To say that I was nervous is putting it mildly.

We cleared St. Lucia and were soon at sea. The islands of Martinique, St. Lucia and Barbados were tiny gray dots on the horizon when an Italian sailor, Louis Maranto, went aft to ship the ventilators. In a few minutes he came rushing forward with terror in his eyes. As he passed the galley I stopped him and asked what was the matter. All he could gasp out was "Mary of God, a devil ees on da ship." "One-eyed Gibson," seeing his terror, went aft with him and soon we could see him coming forward, leading our little stowaway by the ear. The little negro was howling blue murder, and the curses of the mate snapped like a wireless message. Luckily for me the mate stopped at the galley and said, "Keep your eye on this black skunk until I can take him before the 'old man.'" For five minutes I put all my power of entreaty into my voice and prayed the stowaway to stick by me; to swear that he came aboard of his own volition. He promised to do so. Then the mate came after him and took him before the captain. During this fifteen minutes of interview I lived in an agony of torment and suspense. The little fellow came back with a smile on his face and I knew things were all right. He told me that the captain had shipped him at a shilling a month for the passage. For two days he was detailed to help me in the galley, and I lived the life of a prince. We nicknamed him "Monday," the day that he came on board. His real name was Charles Tasima Benn.

On the fourth day, Monday, after peeling a bucket of spuds, while I was reading and smoking, threw down his knife and, with a cunning leer, in a commanding tone told me to get busy and complete the task; that he wished to rest. I started in to "bulldoze" him, but he simply held his hand in my direction, fingers extended, and in a majestic voice informed me:

"From now on, work for the American I will not. I tell Meester Captain American Monday stowed away. Meester American to preeson go fourteen years British government." I nearly fainted. From that time Bill and I were Monday's abject slaves. We even waited on him personally. Any article in my possession that Monday desired was his for the asking. The steward wormed the secret out of Monday, and I was also his slave. Bill and I spent a life of hell on board.

After getting into the tropics lime juice was issued daily to the crew to keep away scurvy. The food was horrible. The pork was rotten; in fact, on the head of one of the salt pork casks was stamped "Inspected 1883." The crew were on the verge of mutiny.

Then we reached the eastern entrance of the Straits and it was blustery and cold. The captain attempted to negotiate the Straits one bright moonlight night. After about three hours the moon disappeared and we went on the rocks, knocking a big hole in the side of the ship, and only quick and efficient work by the carpenter and crew saved us from sinking. They dropped a huge sail over the side, covering the hole. The boats were put over the side and we expected the ship every minute to founder. Next day we were towed into Punta Arenas, and after two weeks the ship was again made seaworthy.

At Talcahuana we shipped 28 Spaniards, or "hombres," as we called them, to work the cargo. This doubled my work, and I prayed that I would die. It was nothing but misery to me. I must have peeled eleven million barrels of spuds; in fact, I never turned in before six bells at night, and had to turn out at six bells in the morning.

After touching at 13 ports on the west coast, discharging our cargo, we left for a little island called Lobas, where we were to take on a cargo of guano. While working this cargo it was misery for everyone on board; the strong ammonia from the guano made our eyes red and watery, and we could only breathe by wrapping big handkerchiefs around our noses and mouths. The wind was constantly blowing, and guano was even in our food.

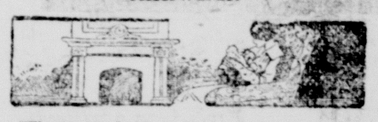
After Your Baby Is Born

Think Now About the Time to Come Afterwards.



When you hold in your arms your tiny new infant, be sure that you can feel that before its arrival you did all in your power to give to it a happy pre-natal influence.

Scientists say that the thoughts and feelings of the expectant mother greatly affect the health and disposition of the future infant.

For over half a century thousands of women who have used the time-honored remedy, Mother's Friend, say that they entirely escaped nausea, nervousness and that peculiar distressing feeling so usual where nature is unaided. They thus preserved a wonderfully bright and happy disposition, which reflects so markedly upon the unborn child.

By the regular use of Mother's Friend the muscles are made and kept soft and elastic to readily yield to nature's demand for expansion without the usual wrenching strain. The nerves are not drawn upon, and as a consequence the expectant mother is calm and serene and the nights are not disturbed with nervous twitchings, and the crisis is one of joy and happiness.

Write the Bradfield Regulator Company, Dept. E, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, of value to every woman, and get a bottle of Mother's Friend from your druggist and begin a treatment that will bring real results.

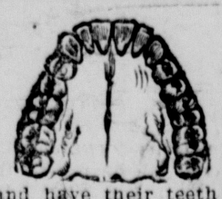
DON'T WAIT



For tooth ache to drive you or your children to a dentist. Come in and have their teeth examined (free) often. If decayed and while the cavities are small they can be filled with vry little or no pain at small cost and perfect satisfaction. Neglect is the cause of painful, expensive and unsatisfactory dentistry. Parents, remember, that a child cuts four permanent jaw teeth when only 6 years old and "they do not shed them." These teeth are nearly alwas mistaken by parents as baby teeth and neglected and lost. Don't make this mistake but commence early with your children before there is something painful to be done and if they are not hurt why should they fear a dentist? I take special care with the children as well as the grown ups.

FOSTER'S WEATHER

Washington, Oct. 28.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent Nov. 2 to 6, warm wave 1 to 5, cool wave 4 to 8. First week in November will average cooler than usual and not much rain. Frost further south than usual; moderate storms.

Next warm wave reach Vancouver about Nov. 7 and temperatures will rise on all the Pacific slope. It will cross crest of Rockies by close of Nov. 8, plain sections 9, meridian 90, great lakes and Ohio-Tennessee valleys 10, eastern sections 11, reaching vicinity of Newfoundland near Nov. 12. Storm wave will follow about one day behind warm wave, cool wave about one day behind storm wave.

The week centering on Nov. 10 will average warmer than usual and not much rain. Indian Summer weather will prevail and storms will be moderate. Balance of November will be unusually stormy and the severe storms will be described in next bulletin. More rain last half than first half of November.

Pacific slop, always mntioned in our weekly forecasts, incudes all the country west of the Rocky mountain top ridge, located on Foster's weather map. I now have the weather maps completed to end of 1921, printed in colors. They give my estimate of crop weather and crops for North America.

There was no good reason for the recent panic and great break in the grain markets and the American people will put an end to the systems that permits such events, as they put an end to the wildcat paper money system that preceded the civil war and the banking system that followed that war and harbored money panics for forty years. Our market system should be radically changed and the robber system overthrown.

Agricultural producers should not be discouraged. America must feed Europe and Mexico till the 1919 crops are marketed and I advise farmers not to sell their products during these market panics. No good reason can be offered why the farmers should not receive $2.50 per bushel for wheat at the principal markets. We who live in the cities are paying prices that are equal to $3 wheat at those markets. I am expecting the coming Winter to be bad for Winter grain and hard on live stock requiring a large amount of feed. Everyone should prepare for higher prices

50. A current of electricity passes down the stem of every growing vegetable into the damp, negative Earth and a magnetic spiral rises around that current, covering the space around it from the fraction of an inch to many feet, in proportion to the dimensions of the vegetable. Official science calls that magnetic spiral the magnetic field. That magnetic spiral carries the violate matter from the soil by electrolysis, to the top side of the leaf, or blade, which it enters as plant food. The plant digests that part of the food suited to its needs as the current passes down the stem. The refuse, being a gas, lighter than air, rises and escapes into the air by way of the under side of the leaf or blade. The digested parts form into sap and pour into openings in the vegetable, like pouring water into a vessel and the sap rises like water poured into a jug. Every vegetable selects its own kind of food. A sour apple tree limb, grafted into the top of a sweet apple tree can select its kind of food from the air while the sweet apple leaf selects its kind, but if both got their food thru the roots the sweet and sour would get mixed.

Cropweather Explanatins

Moisture, to water the continents, must come from the salt water which is evaporated from the oceans by the pure, dry air that comes down thru the permanent highs that cover the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and is carried by the highs or cool waves to the lows or warm waves.

But there is another set of forces that prepare the salt waters for evaporation and the permanent highs over the oceans cannot evaporate the ocean waters till they are prepared by these electro-magnetic forces. When these forces do not magnetize the waters of the Atlantic or the Pacific oceans there is but little evaporation of the waters and consequently it is important to know which ocean and what part ot it is magnetized.

I have long understood all to which above has reference. But I have not understood, till quite recently, the relations of the gaps in the Rockies to the distrubution of rainfall east and west of the ridge.

The lows cannot carry dense clouds over the higher Rockies and the highs following them must carry the moist atmosphere thru the gaps of the Rockies, when the evaporation is on the Pacific.

Not understanding the relation of these gaps to rainfall caused about 20 per cent of error in my cropweather forecasts for 1918. These errors occurred principally in Califonia, Oregan. Washington, Montana, southern Alberta and a few other smaller sections. I knew that the evaporation would be on the Pacific, but did not then know the relation of the mountain gaps to the sections for which my forecasts for 1918 are defective.

I have it. All is lain enough now. Experiments with similar conditions that have occasionally occurred since 1850 have revealed to me how rainfall is distributed east and west of the Rocky ridge, in relation to the mountain passes, when the moisture comes from the Pacific ocean and I can confidently promise better crop weather forecasts hereafter in those sections where they were defective for 1918

DECLARES WOMAN KILLED BY CAR DIVED UNDER THE WHEELS

Dallas, Nov. 1.—An unidentified woman, apparently fifty years old, was instantly killed by an inbound Sunset street car on Jefferson avenue directly in front of Gardner Park at noon Friday.

"Kneeling as if to offer a last prayer, she remained a safe distance from the car line for a second and then seemed to dive under the car as it approached her."

That was the statement made by L. E. McAdams, motorman of the car, who succeeded in stoppping his car after the front truck had passed over the woman's body.

"I saw her a few seconds before the car reached her and she seemed a safe distance away. Suddenly I saw her dive and then heard the grinding noise," said Paul Lawless, fifteen year old boy, who was seated on the south side of the car and in the second seat from the front.

The Brewer Undertaking company ambulance man was hurriedly summoned but the woman was dead when it arrived. The body is being held at the Brewer parlors pending positive identification. No one in the neighborhood of the accident had ever sene her. She was dressed in a long black coat and had on a blue checked dress and a black hat.

Paul Lawless, boy, and other passengers on the car helped remove the body. The woman's head was fractured and the body cut almost in two.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford truck is really a greater necessity to the farmer than is a team of horses. Certainly it is a greater utility and economy for him. It saves time, it gives prompt and almost unlimited service along the entire line of farm work from carrying the milk to marketing the products of the farm. It is not expensive to maintain and has all the Ford simplicity in mechanism that makes it easy to operate. The price, too, is attractive, about the price of a team of horses; $550, without body, f. o. b. Detroit.
